the children of fogo island

What is the magic of a barren island that keeps its inhabitants clinging stubbornly to its shores?

These eighteen minutes of film with the children of Fogo Island – their freedom and imagination, their wide scope for expression and creativity – give us an understanding of what it is that keeps the people of the Newfoundland outports so deeply rooted to their isolated communities.

This film was produced by the National Film Board of Canada for the Challenge for Change Program in cooperation with departments and agencies of the Government of Canada.

Available from National Film Board offices and local film libraries.
