As we look back on the 2012–2013 fiscal year, we also look back on the final chapter of a 2008–2013 Strategic Plan that proposed a sweeping transformation of the National Film Board of Canada—a change in the way we create works and connect with Canadians.

This plan was an act of faith in our capacity for innovation, challenging us to lead the way in this new digital age with productions that alter how visual content is experienced, and that place Canada at the forefront of digital media innovation.

It was this vision for the NFB that led us to create a groundbreaking online Screening Room and a family of acclaimed apps, which have provided Canadian and international audiences with a new way to share the experience of cinema, forging a one-to-one relationship between the NFB and the public.

NFB digital artists and artisans have explored exciting new modes of storytelling in trailblazing interactive productions, works that engage users in the creation of meaningful experiences, while the NFB has rededicated itself to being a creative laboratory for cutting-edge filmmaking, in documentary, animation, 3D stereoscopy and more.

We committed ourselves to digitizing our entire collection, in order to make NFB works accessible as never before, and pursued this goal diligently, year after year, with limited funds but unlimited creativity—in the process earning an international reputation for innovation.

We’ve worked with communities and partners across this land to build sustainable local initiatives for emerging artists, as well as workshops, community screenings and more. And we’ve worked tirelessly to reduce administrative overhead, devoting more resources to creation and accessibility.

ENGAGED WHERE THE FUTURE OF CANADA IS TAKING FORM

We were able to accomplish all this because, five years ago, we asked ourselves one fundamental question: Why should there be a National Film Board of Canada? With most Canadians able to access a multitude of programming choices, with Canada home to a well-established private film sector, what is the role, the relevance, of a public institution like the NFB?

This question has pushed us to reinvent ourselves; to reach out to and connect with Canadians; to find new ways to tell their stories and serve their needs; and to become a centre for world-class innovation in film and interactive media.

It guided the creation of our 2008–2013 Strategic Plan and pushes us farther, now, as we enter a new five-year plan that will see us embracing ongoing change, creating works that stretch the imaginative limits of both artist and audience.

AUTHENTIC NEW VOICES IN DOCUMENTARY CINEMA

In 2012–2013, the NFB produced a slate of documentary films that captured some of the film world’s highest honours, garnering critical and popular acclaim, and building on our tradition of excellence in non-fiction film.
These films gave a voice to new and authentic experiences, born of communities struggling to be heard, or, in some cases, simply survive. These powerful and inspiring expressions of the spirit and imagination also embodied the NFB conviction that form is content, and that our role as a pioneer and leader is to explore new terrain in non-fiction storytelling.

Perhaps no single film from this past year represents this commitment to innovative storytelling better than Sarah Polley’s critically acclaimed hit Stories We Tell (Les Histoires qu’on raconte). Sarah had approached us back in 2008 because she was looking for an opportunity to go beyond her comfort zone and try something new, with only a basic idea about exploring how families remember their histories. She began development of Stories We Tell at the NFB, working with Ontario Centre producer Anita Lee, then joined our CFC/NFB Documentary Program—a unique laboratory for documentary development—where she could continue to experiment.

The result was a new kind of documentary, an inspired, genre-twisting film that has become one of the most celebrated Canadian films in recent history. Winner of the Ted Rogers Best Feature Length Documentary Award at the inaugural Canadian Screen Awards, named best Canadian film as well as best documentary by the Toronto Film Critics Association, and chosen as one of Canada’s Top Ten feature films of the year by TIFF, Stories We Tell passed the $1 million mark in North American box office as of June 2013, and was distributed theatrically in Canada by Mongrel Media and in the U.S. by Roadside Attractions.

Our role as a producer of innovative non-fiction films was also embodied in Hugo Latulippe’s acclaimed Alphée des étoiles (Alphée of the Stars), co-produced with Esperamos Films, which explores how the filmmaker’s daughter, Alphée, continues to defy medical expectations, despite suffering from a rare genetic disorder. This moving, highly personal film played in cinemas across Quebec following its world premiere at Montreal’s Festival du nouveau cinéma and has received Canadian and international honours, including the Special Jury Prize for Canadian Feature Documentary at Hot Docs and the Prix du public at the Visions du Réel festival in Nyon, Switzerland.

2012–2013 was also a noteworthy year for NFB documentaries that focused on the lives and concerns of Aboriginal peoples, with two groundbreaking works in particular.

The Eagle Vision/eOne Television/NFB co-produced We Were Children blends heart-wrenching accounts from residential school survivors Lyna Hart and Glen Anaquod with dramatic storytelling to reveal the personal impact of a national tragedy. The origins of this film go as far back as 2007, when executive producer Lisa Meeches and producer Kyle Irving began interviewing residential school survivors. Working with director Tim Wolochatiuk, they eventually settled on two courageous individuals whose experiences represent the stories of some 150,000 children.

The NFB is working closely with the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada to use this film as a means of advancing the healing process at community screenings and national gatherings in Ottawa, Winnipeg, Montreal and across the country. We Were Children premiered nationally on APTN on March 19 and was released online at NFB.ca. We also created a study guide, in collaboration with the Legacy of Hope Foundation, and professional development workshops, to assist Canada’s educators in sensitively and responsibly integrating this film and this issue into curricula.
In The People of the Kattawapiskak River, legendary NFB filmmaker Alanis Obomsawin went behind the headlines to explore the housing crisis inside the Cree community of Attawapiskat in Northern Ontario, which became the focal point for a larger debate on the living conditions and rights of First Nations people across Canada. The film premiered at the imagineNATIVE Film + Media Arts Festival and was streamed free of charge for one week, beginning January 11, on the NFB’s Aboriginal Peoples online channel, where it was viewed more than 48,000 times.

This was just one example of how, over the past year, we’ve been able to use our digital platforms and social marketing outreach to create national online events and film launches around issues of importance to Canadians.

To mark International Women’s Day on March 8, we streamed Karen Cho’s award-winning feature documentary Status Quo? The unfinished business of feminism in Canada for three days at NFB.ca, accompanied by more than 60 grassroots community screenings across Canada. In honour of Human Rights Day, Paul-Émile d’Entremont’s Une dernière chance (Last Chance) was streamed free of charge from December 7 to 9, sharing stories of asylum seekers who fled homophobic violence in their native countries. This powerful NFB documentary won the award for best medium- or feature-length Acadian film at the Festival international du cinéma francophone en Acadie. And after a world premiere at Hot Docs and sold-out screenings in Winnipeg and Edmonton, Rosie Dransfeld’s Who Cares was launched online at NFB.ca on January 8, taking audiences into the world of Edmonton’s sex trade workers to tell the stories of women caught in a cycle of addiction, violence and prostitution.

Other acclaimed films showcased the NFB’s leadership in original non-fiction features, exploring a diverse range of characters and stories.

Co-produced by EyeSteelFilm and the NFB, Yung Chang’s The Fruit Hunters, winner of the Grand Prix at the 30th International Environmental Film Festival in France, follows devotees who are scouring the globe to find and preserve rare and exotic fruit, while Caroline Martel’s Le chant des ondes – Sur la piste de Maurice Martenot (Wavemakers) brings the story of Maurice Martenot’s pioneering electronic musical instrument, the ondes Martenot, to the big screen for the first time, featuring the participation of Radiohead’s Jonny Greenwood.

The End of Time (La fin du temps) is the final instalment in a trilogy of films by Peter Mettler exploring the limits of what can be expressed in cinema. Mettler takes on the elusive subject of time in this international co-production (maximage/Grimthorpe/NFB/SRF/SRG/SSR/ARTE G.E.I.E.), chosen for Canada’s Top Ten list by TIFF.

Written and directed by Julien Fréchette, and produced by MC2 Communication Média and the NFB, Le prix des mots (Silence Is Gold) looks at whether free speech has limits, as it follows judicial proceedings initiated by mining companies over the 2008 release of the book Noir Canada and its allegations of abuses. After premiering last fall at the Rencontres internationales du documentaire de Montréal (RIDM), where it received a Magnus Isacsson Award Special Mention, Le prix des mots was launched theatrically on February 8.

Opening in Canadian cinemas on March 22, Sudz Sutherland’s Home Again is another example of how the NFB offers a unique environment for crafting stories. In this case, the NFB approached Sutherland and filmmaking partner Jennifer Holness—the acclaimed team behind Love, Sex and Eating the Bones—with an eye to developing innovative narrative feature projects. Over a period of six years, Holness and Sutherland developed their film, with our support. The result is a powerful drama, created in partnership with renowned Canadian producer Don Carmody, and inspired by true-life stories of people deported "home" to Jamaica despite being raised abroad since infancy.

In 2012–2013, NFB filmmakers also offered deeply personal explorations of the culture and stories of francophone Canadian communities.

Premiering at TIFF, Let the Daylight into the Swamp is an innovative 3D film blending fiction and documentary, myth and fact, comedy and tragedy. Director Jeffrey St. Jules recounts the story of his grandparents' lives in the logging towns of Northern Ontario, where Franco-Ontarian joie de vivre tempered the hardships of frontier existence.

The Acadian film community gained a major new voice in 2012–2013 with Justin Guitard's Une affaire de famille (A Family Affair). Winner of our Tremplin competition for emerging francophone filmmakers, Justin takes audiences inside the family-run general store where he grew up in Pointe-Verte, New Brunswick, paying tribute to a family devoted to its community in a short documentary that won top prizes at both the Festival international du cinéma francophone en Acadie and Rendez-vous du cinéma québécois.

KEY MOMENTS IN THE LIFE OF CANADA
From its very inception, the NFB has been there to chronicle key moments in the life of Canada and Canadians.

In The Portrait, NFB filmmaker and 2005 Academy Award nominee Hubert Davis offers Canadians a rare opportunity to witness living history, following artist Phil Richards as he creates Canada’s official portrait for Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II’s Diamond Jubilee. Launched at Rideau Hall in a ceremony attended by His Excellency David Johnston, The Portrait was also combined with classic films about Canada’s Royal Family in Celebrating the Queen’s Diamond Jubilee – Collector’s Edition, a two-DVD set from the NFB and our partners, Canada Post and the Department of Canadian Heritage, that has been distributed to over 20,000 Canadian secondary schools, colleges, CEGEPs, universities, public libraries and Canadian embassies and consulates worldwide. This project is similar to the one we designed for Quebec City’s 400th anniversary in 2008.

Through The Loxleys and the War of 1812, we offered Canadians an entertaining, cost-free way of rediscovering a vital part of their country’s history. Based on the book by Renegade Arts Entertainment, this interactive graphic novel app for tablets was produced in partnership with the Department of Canadian Heritage, in both of Canada’s official languages, and is available at the Apple App Store as well as Google Play. This immersive history experience for users aged 12 and up is accompanied by a study guide that helps educators incorporate it into classroom activities.

The NFB celebrated Canadian cultural achievements in 2012–2013 through our involvement with the Governor General’s Performing Arts Awards. For the fifth consecutive year, the NFB brought together acclaimed Canadian filmmakers to craft a series of short signature works honouring the recipients of Canada’s most prestigious performing arts awards. With the 2012–2013 crop of films, the NFB has now produced 40 shorts for the Awards.
A UNIQUE PLACE FOR GROUNDBREAKING ANIMATION ART

The NFB’s leadership in auteur animation was on display once again, with works by top animation artists from Canada and the rest of the world. NFB animation studios offer established and emerging artists a unique environment and the time and support they need to experiment, take risks and craft groundbreaking works.

These animated productions garnered over 60 Canadian and international awards in 2012–2013—representing almost half of all awards won by NFB films this past year.

Highlights included Patrick Bouchard completing a “hat trick” at the Jutras with his third win in the category of Best Short or Medium-Length Animated Film, for Bydlo. This powerful clay animation film opened the Fantasia Festival in Montreal, where it added to its list of honours with both the Coup de coeur (Special Prize) and a Special Award for Technical Achievement.

Edmond était un âne/Edmond Was a Donkey (Papy3D Productions/ARTE France/NFB) by Franck Dion received the Bravo!Fact Award for Best Canadian Short at the CFC Worldwide Short Film Festival and the award for Best International Short Film at the Festival international du cinéma francophone en Acadie, along with such international honours as a Special Jury Award at the Annecy International Animation Film Festival.

Paula, directed by Dominic Etienne Simard and produced through the French Animation studio’s Cinéaste recherché(e) competition for emerging animators, was named Best Animated Short at the inaugural Canadian Screen Awards and received the Berlin-Brandenburg Short Award for Best Film at the Berlin International Short Film Festival.

Martine Chartrand, creator of the multi-award-winning NFB short Âme noire/Black Soul, was back with a new NFB film, MacPherson. A tribute to the friendship between poet Félix Leclerc and Jamaican engineer Frank Randolph Macpherson, this paint-on-glass work opened the Montreal World Film Festival, where it won the Best Canadian Short Film Public Award as well as the First Prize for Short Film.

Narrated by Christopher Plummer, Regina Pessoa’s Kali le petit vampire/Kali the Little Vampire (Folimage Studios/Ciclope Filmes/NFB/Studio GDS) is a poetic children’s fable about self-acceptance whose international honours include the prestigious Hiroshima Prize at the Hiroshima International Animation Festival, while another of our international co-productions, Hefang Wei’s Le banquet de la concubine/The Banquet of the Concubine (Foliascope/Folimage/NFB), received a Jury Award at the Montreal World Film Festival.

Even as we develop new animation applications for digital and stereoscopic technology, we’re keeping pre-digital animation breakthroughs alive. The NFB is home to the only still-working Alexeïeff-Parker pinscreen in the world, used to craft the award-winning Le grand ailleurs et le petit/Here and the Great Elsewhere by Michèle Lemieux, who was introduced to this rare technique by pinscreen expert Jacques Drouin at an NFB master class.

The NFB continued to add to Canada’s animation talent pool in 2012–2013 with our Hothouse apprenticeship program for emerging artists. Our eighth season of Hothouse gave young animators a chance to take advantage of new hardware, software and platforms to create their works, with 12 new short films premiering online at NFB.ca, as well as festival debuts for Jesse Gouchy’s Baaad Dream at the imagineNATIVE Film + Media Arts Festival and Carrie Mombourquette’s Meltdown at the International Environmental Film Festival in Paris.
PIONEERING INTERACTIVE WORKS

In 2012–2013, the NFB continued to lead the way as an innovator and driving force in documentary transmedia, creating immersive experiences shaped by an emphasis on ethics and authenticity—works that push the boundaries of interactive creation. Over the last few years, the NFB has defined much of the practice in this area, but the world is catching up. Our challenge now is to keep forging ahead; to keep the startling sense of discovery and awe alive.

A total of eight interactive productions and two installations were launched last year. One of our interactive productions from the previous fiscal year, Bear 71, continued to capture accolades in 2012–2013, garnering 120,894 views and a Gold Cyber Lion Award, in addition to being selected as the world’s top website of the year by the Favourite Website Awards.

Reflecting our ongoing commitment to creating interactive and film projects that help improve the lives of Canadians, Here At Home was launched on May 15, in French and English, as part of Canadian Mental Health Week. This cutting-edge documentary experience explores a radical experiment—the largest of its kind in the world—by the Mental Health Commission of Canada to end chronic homelessness for people with mental illnesses. Produced by the NFB’s English and French Program branches, and shot in Moncton, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver, Here At Home received the Grand Prize–Information and Documentary Site at the InfoPresse Boomerang Awards, and was named Site of the Day by the Favourite Website Awards.

Two NFB web projects emerged out of our ongoing work to strengthen the French language in Canada.

Échos – la francophonie dans tous ses états celebrates the richness and vitality of French, inviting young people to express themselves and create their own works en français, in innovative and inspired ways. Created by the Departement.ca studio and Pascal Brouard, with the participation of filmmakers from 12 francophone countries, the project was launched as an interactive installation at the French Language World Forum of the International Organization of La Francophonie in Quebec City, July 3 to 5, in the presence of Abdou Diouf, Secretary-General of La Francophonie.

Ta parole est en jeu! is a playful interactive website that helps young people discover the richness of the French language in Canada, with online games that explore the vocabulary, expressions, regionalisms, accents and communities of the French-speaking world and the history of French in Canada. The site includes short films shot in every province and territory in the country. It’s a joint venture of the NFB and the Groupe des technologies de l’apprentissage de l’Université de Moncton, financed in part by the Department of Canadian Heritage’s Canada Interactive Fund.

With the 2012 student protests having a profound impact on Quebec politics and society, the NFB moved quickly to collaborate with the magazine Urbania on Rouge au carré, an interactive essay exploring the relationship between the “Quebec Spring” and Jean-Jacques Rousseau’s The Social Contract. Created by the École de la Montagne Rouge and Commun, with music by Capitaine Soldat and the participation of Pascal Henrard, Rouge au carré was featured on Radio-Canada.ca as well as on the NFB’s own platforms, and received the Grand Prize in the Experiential Site category at the InfoPresse Boomerang Awards.

The aftermath of the Quebec student protests is also explored in the online interactive essay Le printemps d’après (The Following Spring), one of two works directed for us by videographer and photographer Jérémie Battaglia, and one of four online works exploring social issues in Quebec and created through our partnership with Le Devoir. Battaglia also directed Le poids d’une voix – 30 électeurs pour raconter la démocratie, focusing on the 2012 Quebec general election through daily portraits of new voters, while Dominic Turmel was artistic director on Les maux illisibles, an interactive essay that looks at literacy in Quebec, where approximately 1.3 million people over the age of 16 are considered illiterate.

The fourth project in our collaboration with Le Devoir, Un vendredi soir au club video (Friday Night at the Video Store), co-directed by Cédric Chabuel and Alexandra Viau, examines yet another way in which the Internet is changing how we live, telling the stories of five corner video stores struggling to stay afloat.

In October 2012, we also launched the first project of the NFB’s partnership with the imagineNATIVE Film + Media Arts Festival, aimed at supporting new forms of Indigenous artistic expression. ITWÉ Collective’s DE NORT was featured as an installation premiere and interactive preview at imagineNATIVE. This online interactive journey and onsite installation explores, through household objects, the lives and experiences of people living on a northern Manitoba reserve.

A SUSTAINED CONNECTION WITH AUDIENCES

A commitment to putting the needs of Canadians first, and to creating a new online space where audiences could access their country’s audiovisual legacy, was at the heart of our groundbreaking NFB Screening Room. Envisioned as a place where people could interact with the NFB’s rich library as well as one another, NFB.ca has helped to spawn a range of applications for smartphones, tablets and connected TV.

On July 7, we added to this growing family of apps with the Ludovic iPad application, designed to entertain and educate pre-reading children between the ages of 3 and 5—an ideal vacation companion as Canadian families headed to the beach or cottage. Based on the acclaimed Quatre saisons dans la vie de Ludovic (Four Seasons in the Life of Ludovic) series, a quartet of puppet-animated short films by animation virtuoso Co Hoedeman, it’s the first NFB iPad app specifically intended for children.

We also added a selection of popular NFB documentaries to Google Play, as Google’s rebranded online store joined our growing list of online distribution partners.

Internationally, we forged an exciting new partnership with China’s Phoenix New Media to create NFB ZONE, the first Canadian-branded online channel in the People’s Republic of China. This partnership showcases approximately 130 NFB animated or documentary films on the digital platforms of Phoenix New Media, whose web portal and mobile channels reach 300 million page views each day.

We continued to increase our presence in the public space. At the request of Aéroports de Montréal, we expanded our exhibit at Montreal-Trudeau Airport from passenger-only areas into open-access spaces, with a tribute to Oscar-winning NFB animated films as well as a new feature that enables airport visitors to learn about our films and stream or download content utilizing barcode technology. We also partnered with VIA Rail Canada, CBC/Radio-Canada and the Historica-Dominion Institute on an interactive platform providing passengers on VIA Rail in the busy Quebec City – Windsor corridor with free access to Canadian programming as of spring 2013.
WORKING LOCALLY WITH FRENCH-SPEAKING MINORITY COMMUNITIES

In francophone minority communities, there’s a need for cultural events and programming that can help preserve the French language and strengthen communities. We’re active in programming, working with official-language minority filmmakers across Canada, but we’re also connecting with local partners on public events that bring the richness of NFB French-language cinema into communities, in addition to developing programs that mentor new voices in francophone Canadian film.

Under a new three-year agreement signed in October 2012, the NFB and TFO are now working together to promote French-language culture and creation, developing innovative productions that will showcase francophone creative talent from both Canada and abroad. We also continued on our tour of francophone minority communities, with Claude Joli-Cœur, Assistant Commissioner, and Deborah Drisdell, Director General, Accessibility and Digital Enterprises, travelling to Winnipeg in February 2013 to meet with some 20 Franco-Manitoban organizations and associations. These group meetings took place as part of our Cross-Canada Tour, which had already visited organizations from French-speaking communities in the Maritimes, Alberta and British Columbia, with the aim of establishing sustainable activities to enhance the promotion of the French language and works by francophone filmmakers throughout Canada.

Organizationally, we consolidated our francophone presence across the country in 2012–2013 through the appointment of an executive producer for our new Canadian Francophonie Studio and the creation of a French Program interactive producer position in Vancouver. They will join the Canadian Francophonie Studio – Acadie in Moncton, and of course our legendary studios in Quebec, as part of the NFB’s ongoing commitment to the flourishing of French language and culture across this land.

NEW INITIATIVES AND PARTNERSHIPS WITH ABORIGINAL COMMUNITIES

The NFB is a pioneer and world leader in producing works by Aboriginal directors—artists who explore Aboriginal history and culture and express the concerns of communities facing a range of social and environmental challenges. We’re also working with First Nations, Inuit and Métis organizations and communities across Canada to create sustainable mentorship and community media initiatives.

For Digital North 1.0, the NFB and the Nunavut Film Development Corporation partnered on a call for proposals to participate in NFB-led labs on the development and production of interactive works, with the goal of connecting with creators and developing the digital capacity of Canada’s North. Artists from Iqaluit and Igloolik were selected, and NFB producer Alicia Smith travelled to these communities with a small team to hold intensive, five-day labs.

We also expanded our Tremplin program for emerging French-language filmmakers to offer a new initiative specifically designed for First Nations francophone filmmakers in Quebec. Called Tremplin...
NIKANIK, this joint venture with APTN will give aspiring filmmakers the chance to make a short first or second documentary film, gaining valuable hands-on screenwriting and production experience working with respected industry professionals.

In the U.K., we joined with Cambridge Arts Picturehouse, the Cambridge Science Festival and the Polar Museum at the Scott Polar Research Institute for Arctic Film Festival: Voices from the North, a week-long celebration of film that introduced the vibrancy of Inuit cinema and culture to new audiences and was attended by distinguished Inuit artists.

LEADERSHIP IN DIGITAL PRESERVATION AND ARCHIVING

When we committed ourselves to our digital shift five years ago, we knew that we would have limited financial resources to accomplish this vital work—and so we set about harnessing our own ingenuity to develop in-house solutions and expertise. Today, after five years of hard work and innovation, we’ve reached a milestone, with 38 percent of our active collection now digitized.

And something else has happened, something rather remarkable. Along the way, we’ve established a reputation for the NFB and Canada as a world leader in digital preservation and archival management, a standing that can be seen in the many requests in 2012–2013, from leading international bodies, to share our expertise.

At the invitation of the Society of Motion Picture and Television Engineers, the NFB R&D team worked alongside international experts to deliver a seminar on digitization and digital workflow that kicked off in Montreal in September to a sold-out audience, with encore presentations slated for Toronto, Washington, New York, Hollywood and elsewhere. That same month, the NFB presented some of the innovative solutions of our digital strategy at a UNESCO conference in Vancouver entitled “The Memory of the World in the Digital Age: Digitization and Preservation.” The NFB was one of a select group of organizations invited to give showcase presentations, which brought together digital preservation experts from around the globe.

In October, the NFB joined such formidable brands as Warner Brothers and the L.A. Lakers as the subject of a case study at the Association of Moving Image Archivists (AMIA) Digital Asset Symposium, held in Hollywood, where we were asked to present solutions we’ve developed in response to the technological challenges of our digitization drive. AMIA also asked us to take part in its annual conference, held in December 2012 in Seattle, where, once again, NFB leadership in digital archives management was much in demand.

Munich-based motion picture technology leader ARRI Group consulted with NFB technical experts to adapt its film digitization system ARRISCAN for use with 16mm prints. NFB R&D engineer Jimmy Fournier also travelled to Munich to test the new system with a selection of old and damaged NFB 16mm films, with the result that our input has helped to fine-tune this state-of-the-art system, while improving its capacity to meet our needs in digitizing the NFB’s large library of 16mm films.

We also continued to make progress on our media asset management (MAM) system last fiscal, a central component of our plan to better manage our digital assets and shift from text to media management. We signed a partnership agreement with North Plains Systems for the purpose of adapting their Telescope MAM system to our own proposed method, one that will enable our users to access our collection and select the works they need in a user-friendly environment.
On November 21, Deborah Drisdell and Luisa Frate were invited by the Conference Board of Canada to close its symposium, “Public Sector Transformation 2012: Navigating the Perfect Storm,” with a presentation about the NFB’s digital transformation. American change-management expert David Hurst, in attendance, had high praise for how we’ve gone about this work: with limited financial resources but a readiness to work together to take risks and create innovative solutions.

A DYNAMIC, EVOLVING ORGANIZATION

A key goal for us in our new Strategic Plan is to continue along the path of organizational renewal, and to create a dynamic, evolving organization that is more responsive to the needs of Canadians and more open to change, with a structure that enhances our ability to work and create differently.

A model such as this cannot simply be “handed down” from management to our team. It’s vital that it emerge organically from a collective discussion and reflection on the fundamental, existential question of the role of the NFB in this new century.

So we established an employee consultation process that would guide our thinking about the NFB’s future. Six working groups, comprised of staff from across the country, explored the subjects of artistic creation, audiences, business models, the role of the public sector and the future of public space, and technological innovation.

Critically, we also asked eminent thinkers and experts from outside the organization to join our process, to share their expertise in key areas such as the future of public space; social, demographic and economic trends; the future of creation, and more. NFB employees met with Michel Venne, director and founder of the Institut du Nouveau Monde; Allan Gregg, president of Harris/Decima; Don Drummond, Matthews Fellow and Distinguished Visiting Scholar in the School of Policy Studies at Queens University; William Uricchio, lead researcher at MIT Open Documentary Lab; Hélène Godin, executive creative vice president and partner at the branding firm Sid Lee; and the award-winning Canadian writer Lawrence Hill, who explored for us how history gets told—and by whom.

Their perspectives became part of a far-ranging discussion on what our role should be as a public producer, and how we need to adapt and change in order to engage with our audiences and with one another as colleagues, as part of a fluid, dynamic structure. These discussions then helped nurture further reflections on these issues as we drafted the 2013-2018 Strategic Plan, taking into consideration all of this insightful, stimulating work.

A YEAR OF CHALLENGES

Of course, 2012–2013 was a year of great challenges for the NFB, as it was for all federally funded bodies. Beginning on March 29, the NFB shouldered its share of the burden in reducing the federal deficit, with a $6.68 million reduction in our annual budget, equivalent to a 10 percent reduction in our parliamentary allocation.

We had to make some difficult choices, most notably the closing of our public access centres, the CineRobotheque in Montreal and the Mediatheque in Toronto. But we also strived to make choices that would ensure the long-term viability of the NFB, maintain our capacity to innovate in the creation and distribution of works, and connect with Canadians. So we moved to enrich our educational workshops, creating new positions for workshop animators, and offered educators enhanced resources via our online educational service, CAMPUS.
It was a difficult process—but we have emerged from it leaner and more focused, working smarter and utilizing new technologies, as we continue to challenge ourselves to create and share works that make a difference in the lives of Canadians.

BEGINNING A NEW ENGAGEMENT WITH CANADIANS

The results reported here represent the final chapter of a five-year-long process to transform Canada’s public producer and distributor—how we create, how we listen, and how we connect with Canadians, in their communities.

It has been an ambitious, challenging, exciting process—and one that is just beginning.

In our 2013–2018 Strategic Plan, we are challenging ourselves to go further. We are dedicating ourselves to even more radical change—not a destination, but a process—continually revisiting, re-examining, rethinking the NFB’s purpose and benefit to Canadians.

This demanding yet intensely rewarding work will release a dynamic burst of creative energy and innovation, enable us to take the lead in the debate over the changing role of public institutions today, and further establish the NFB as a major player in the global media landscape.

The NFB matters to the extent that what we do has a positive impact on the lives of Canadians. From our filmmakers, animators and digital storytellers, to our technicians, our marketers—indeed, our entire team—we must be focused on creating experiences that touch the imaginative, emotional and intellectual chords of Canadians.

This commitment has already led to profound changes in how we work and create, and world-class achievements in programming and accessibility. It must continue to guide us in all our decisions, going forward.

Thank you to everyone involved in making 2012–2013 a success.
THE END OF TIME – Peter Mettler

The annex mentioned in the Statement of Management Responsibility can be found on the National Film Board website.

Responsibility for the integrity and objectivity of the accompanying financial statements for the year ended March 31, 2013, and all information contained in these statements rests with the management of the National Film Board (the “Board”). These financial statements have been prepared by management using the Government’s accounting policies, which are based on Canadian public sector accounting standards.

Management is responsible for the integrity and objectivity of the information in these financial statements. Some of the information in the financial statements is based on management’s best estimates and judgment, and gives due consideration to materiality. To fulfill its accounting and reporting responsibilities, management maintains a set of accounts that provides a centralized record of the Board’s financial transactions. Financial information submitted in the preparation of the Public Accounts of Canada, and included in the Board’s Departmental Performance Report, is consistent with these financial statements.

Management is also responsible for maintaining an effective system of internal control over financial reporting (ICFR) designed to provide reasonable assurance that financial information is reliable, that assets are safeguarded and that transactions are properly authorized and recorded in accordance with the Financial Administration Act and other applicable legislation, regulations, authorities and policies.

Management seeks to ensure the objectivity and integrity of data in its financial statements through careful selection, training and development of qualified staff; through organizational arrangements that provide appropriate divisions of responsibility; through communication programs aimed at ensuring that regulations, policies, standards, and managerial authorities are understood throughout the Board and through conducting an annual risk-based assessment of the effectiveness of the system of ICFR.

The system of ICFR is designed to mitigate risks to a reasonable level based on an ongoing process to identify key risks, to assess effectiveness of associated key controls, and to make any necessary adjustments.
The Board will be subject to periodic Core Control Audits performed by the Office of the Comptroller General and will use the results of such audits to adhere to the Treasury Board Policy on Internal Control.

In the interim, the Board has undertaken a risk-based assessment of the system of ICFR for the year ended March 31, 2013, in accordance with the Treasury Board Policy on Internal Control, and the results and action plan are summarized in the annex.

The Office of the Auditor General, the independent auditor for the Government of Canada, has expressed an opinion on the fair presentation of the financial statements of the Board which does not include an audit opinion on the annual assessment of the effectiveness of the Board’s internal controls over financial reporting.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

To the Minister of Canadian Heritage and Official Languages

Report on the Financial Statements

I have audited the accompanying financial statements of the National Film Board, which comprise the statement of financial position as at 31 March 2013, and the statement of operations and departmental net financial position, statement of change in departmental net debt and statement of cash flows for the year then ended, and a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory information.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with Canadian public sector accounting standards, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditor's Responsibility

My responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on my audit. I conducted my audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that I comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

I believe that the audit evidence I have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for my audit opinion.

Opinion

In my opinion, the financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the National Film Board as at 31 March 2013, and the results of its operations, changes in its net debt, and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Canadian public sector accounting standards.

Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements

In my opinion, the transactions of the National Film Board that have come to my notice during my audit of the financial statements have, in all significant respects, been in accordance with the National Film Act and the by-laws of the National Film Board.

The accompanying notes form an integral part of these financial statements.
1| AUTHORITY AND PURPOSES

The National Film Board was established in 1939 under the National Film Act and is the agency responsible for administering the Act.

The National Film Board (the “Board”) is a cultural agency named in Schedule I.1 of the Financial Administration Act reporting to the Minister of Canadian Heritage and Official Languages. It is administered by a Board of Trustees appointed by the Governor in Council and chaired by the Government Film Commissioner.

The Board’s legislative mandate is to initiate and promote the production and distribution of films in the national interest and, in particular:

- to produce and distribute and to promote the production and distribution of films designed to interpret Canada to Canadians and to other nations;
- to represent the Government of Canada in its relations with persons engaged in commercial motion picture film activity in connection with motion picture films for the Government or any department thereof;
- to engage in research in film activity and to make available the results thereof to persons engaged in the production of films;
- to advise the Governor in Council in connection with film activities;
- to discharge such other duties relating to film activity as the Governor in Council may direct it to undertake.

The Board is not subject to income taxes.

2| SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

These financial statements have been prepared using the Government’s accounting policies stated below, which are based on Canadian public sector accounting standards. The presentation and results using the stated accounting policies do not result in any significant differences from Canadian public sector accounting standards.

Significant accounting policies are as follows:

Parliamentary authorities

Operations are funded through a permanent authority from Parliament (Revolving Fund) and Parliamentary authorities voted annually.

The Revolving Fund allows the Board to make payments out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund for working capital, interim financing of operating costs and capital assets acquisitions. This authority requires that the aggregate of admissible working capital and net book value of capital assets does not exceed $15 million.

The Board is also financed in part by the Government of Canada through Parliamentary authorities. The authorities are voted annually to replenish the Revolving Fund for net acquisitions of capital assets and the admissible cost of operations. Financial reporting of authorities provided to the Board does not parallel financial reporting according to generally accepted accounting principles, since authorities are primarily based on cash flow requirements. Consequently, items recognized in the Statement of Operations and Departmental Net Financial Position and in the Statement of Financial Position are not necessarily the same as those provided through authorities from Parliament. Note 3 provides reconciliation between the two bases of reporting. The planned results amounts presented in the Statement of Operations and Departmental Net Financial Position are the amounts reported in the future-oriented financial statements included in the 2012-2013 Report on Plans and Priorities.

Each year, the Board presents information on planned expenditures to Parliament through the tabling of Estimates publications. These estimates result in the introduction of supply bills (which, once passed into legislation, become appropriation acts) in accordance with the reporting cycle for government expenditures. The Board exercises expenditure initiation processes such that unencumbered balances of budget allotments and appropriations are monitored and reported on a regular basis to help ensure sufficient authority remains for the entire period and appropriations are not exceeded.

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Department will encounter difficulty in meeting its obligations associated with financial liabilities. The Board’s objective for managing liquidity risk is to manage operations and cash expenditures within the appropriation authorized by Parliament or allotment limits approved by the Treasury Board.

Consistent with Section 32 of the Financial Administration Act, the Board’s policy to manage liquidity risk is that no contract or other arrangement providing for a payment shall be entered into with respect to any program for which there is an appropriation by Parliament or an item included in estimates then before the House of Commons to which the payment will be charged, unless there is a sufficient unencumbered balance available out of the appropriation or item to discharge any debt that, under the contract or other arrangement, will be incurred during the fiscal year in which the contract or other arrangement is entered into.

The Board’s risk of exposure and its objectives, policies and processes to manage and measure this risk did not change significantly from the prior year.

Net cash provided by Government of Canada

The Board operates within the Consolidated Revenue Fund (CRF), which is administered by the Receiver General for Canada. All cash received by the Board is deposited to the CRF and all cash disbursements made by the Board are paid from the CRF. The net cash provided by the Government is the difference between all cash receipts and all cash disbursements including transactions between departments of the federal Government.

Due from or to the Consolidated Revenue Fund

Amounts due from or to the Consolidated Revenue Fund (CRF) are the result of timing differences between when a transaction affects the Board’s authorities and when it is processed through the CRF. Amounts due from the CRF represent the net amount of cash that the Board is entitled to draw from the CRF without further authorities to discharge its liabilities. This amount is not considered to be a financial instrument.
Expense recognition

All expenses are recorded on an accrual basis.

Vacation pay is expensed as the benefits are earned by employees under their respective terms of employment.

Production of films and other forms of visual presentation

All production costs are charged to operations in the year in which they are incurred and are shown in the Statement of Operations and Departmental Net Financial Position as follows:

Board’s program

All costs incurred for unsponsored productions and co-productions or other forms of visual presentation.

Sponsored production and pre-sale

Part of costs incurred for film productions and co-productions or other forms of visual presentation corresponding to sponsor’s contribution. The excess of costs over the sponsor’s contribution is charged to the Board’s program.

Revenues

Revenues from the production of films and other forms of visual presentation are accounted for at an amount equal to the sponsored production and pre-sale costs during the year in which these costs are incurred. Any profit is recognized in the year the production is completed.

Royalty revenues are recognized once all of the Board’s obligations have been fulfilled and its expenses have been accounted for, regardless of when the acquirer actually uses the work.

Other revenues are accounted for in the period in which the underlying transaction or event that gave rise to the revenue takes place.

Accounts receivable

Accounts receivable are stated at amounts expected to be ultimately realized. A provision is recorded for external parties’ accounts receivable where recovery is considered uncertain.

Credit risk is the risk that one party to a financial instrument will cause a financial loss for the other party by failing to discharge an obligation. The Board is not exposed to significant credit risk. The Board provides services to other government departments and agencies and to external parties in the normal course of business. Accounts receivable are due on demand. The Board’s maximum exposure to credit risk is equal to the carrying value of its accounts receivable.

Inventory

Materials and supplies are valued at cost.

Film prints and other forms of visual presentation held for sale are valued at the lower of cost or net realizable value. The cost of other prints is expensed on a current basis.
Tangible capital assets

All tangible capital assets having an initial cost of $5,000 or more and leasehold improvements of $10,000 or more are recorded at their acquisition cost.

Amortization of tangible capital assets is done on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful life of the assets, as follows:

</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>

The Board has a collection of nearly twenty thousand audiovisual works produced since 1895. This inestimable collection is not intended for sale and does not have a measurable value. It has, however, been assigned a nominal value of $1 in the financial statements, appearing on the Statement of Financial Position and in note 8 as tangible capital assets to ensure that the reader is aware of its existence.

The Board enters into operating lease agreements to acquire the exclusive use of certain tangible capital assets over the term of the lease. These rental fees are charged to operations in the year to which they apply. The Board also enters into capital lease agreements by which substantially all the benefits and risks inherent to ownership of the assets are transferred to the Board. The Board then records an asset and an obligation corresponding to the present value of the minimum lease payments, excluding the portion thereof relating to executory costs. The assets recorded from a capital lease agreement are amortized on the same basis as other assets owned by the Board and the obligations are amortized over the lease term.

Other financial assets and financial liabilities

Financial instruments of the Board are stated at cost or amortized cost. Financial assets consist of assets that could be used to reimburse existing liabilities or finance future operations.

The Board has the following financial assets:

- Cash
- Accounts receivable related to the sale of audiovisual products to external parties or other departments and agencies (net of allowances for doubtful accounts)
- Deposits related to production abroad
- Deferred revenue

Financial liabilities consist of accounts payable and accrued liabilities and accrued salaries.
Employee Future Benefits

Pension benefits

Eligible employees participate in the Public Service Pension Plan, a multiemployer pension plan administered by the Government. The Board’s contributions to the Plan are charged to expenses in the year incurred and represent the Board’s total obligation to the Plan. The Board’s responsibility with regard to the Plan is limited to its contributions. Actuarial surpluses or deficiencies are recognized in the financial statements of the Government of Canada, as the Plan’s sponsor.

Severance benefits

Employees are entitled to severance benefits as provided under collective agreements or conditions of employment. In 2012, the program for all employees was eliminated and, consequently, the severance benefits ceased to accumulate. The cost of severance was recorded in the periods in which the benefits were earned by employees. The obligation under severance benefits is calculated at present value using the most probable management assumptions regarding wage, the discount rate and the timing of retirement. These assumptions are reviewed annually.

Compensated absences

Employees are entitled to compensated absences as provided in their collective agreements or conditions of employment. This involves sick days that accumulate but do not vest, enabling the employees to be paid during their absence in recognition of prior service. As the employees render services, the value of the compensated absences attributed to those services is recorded as a liability and an expense. Management uses assumptions and its best estimates, such as the discount rate, the age of retirement, utilization rate of days in excess of the leave granted annually, probability of departure and salary review rate, to calculate the present value of the sick pay benefits obligation. These assumptions are reviewed annually.

Contingent liabilities

Contingent liabilities are potential liabilities which may become actual liabilities when one or more future events occur or fail to occur. To the extent that the future event is likely to occur or fail to occur, and a reasonable estimate of the loss can be made, an estimated liability is accrued and an expense recorded. If the likelihood is not determinable or an amount cannot be reasonably estimated, the contingency is disclosed in the notes to the financial statements.

Measurement uncertainty

The preparation of these financial statements requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenues and expenses reported in the financial statements. At the time of preparation of these statements, management believes the estimates and assumptions to be reasonable. The most significant items where estimates are used are the allowance for doubtful accounts, contingent liabilities, the liability related to employee future benefits and the useful life of tangible capital assets. Actual results could significantly differ from those estimated. Management’s estimates are reviewed periodically and, as adjustments become necessary, they are recorded in the financial statements in the year they become known.
3. PARLIAMENTARY AUTHORITIES

The Board receives most of its funding through annual Parliamentary authorities. Items recognized in the Statement of Operations and Departmental Net Financial Position and the Statement of Financial Position in one year may be funded through Parliamentary authorities in prior, current or future years. Accordingly, the Board has different net results of operations for the year on a government funding basis than on an accrual accounting basis. The differences are reconciled in the following tables:

a) Reconciliation of net cost of operations to current year authorities used:

In Canada’s Economic Action Plan 2012, the Government announced savings measures to be implemented by departments over the next three fiscal years, starting in 2012-2013. As a result, the Board has recorded as at March 31, 2013, an obligation for termination benefits in the amount of $584,852 (2012 – $1,777,695) as part of accrued liabilities to reflect the estimated workforce adjustment costs. Also, a provision for onerous contracts of $753,338 was recorded in accrued liabilities at March 31, 2013, following the closure of viewing posts and cinema facilities in Montreal.

LEASE OBLIGATION FOR TANGIBLE CAPITAL ASSETS

The Board has entered into agreements to lease technical, data processing and office equipment under capital leases. The assets have been capitalized using imputed interest rates varying from 6% to 8%. The related obligations are paid over a 3- to 5-year lease term. Payments totalled $381,978 for the year ended March 31, 2013 (2012 – payments of $612,449). Interest of $20,336 (2012 – $59,904) was charged to operations.

The obligation related to the upcoming years includes the following:

6) EMPLOYEE FUTURE BENEFITS

Pension benefits

The Board’s eligible employees participate in the Public Service Pension Plan, which is sponsored and administered by the Government of Canada. Pension benefits accrue up to a maximum period of 35 years at a rate of 2 percent per year of pensionable service, times the average of the best five consecutive years of earnings. The benefits are integrated with Canada/Quebec Pension Plans benefits and are indexed to inflation.

Both the employees and the Board contribute to the cost of the Plan. The 2013 expense amounts to $3,805,736 (2012 – $3,629,990), which represents approximately 1.9 times (2012 – 2.0 times) the contributions by employees.

The Board’s responsibility with regard to the Plan is limited to its contributions. Actuarial surpluses or deficiencies are recognized in the financial statements of the Government of Canada, as the Plan’s sponsor.

Severance benefits and compensated absences

Severance benefits

The Board provides severance benefits to its employees based on eligibility, years of service and salary at termination of employment. These severance benefits are not pre-funded. Benefits will be paid from future authorities.

As part of collective agreement negotiations and conditions of employment, the accumulation of severance benefits under the employees’ severance pay program ceased commencing in 2012. Employees subject to these changes have the option to be immediately paid the full or partial value of benefits earned to date or collect the full or remaining value of benefits on termination from the public service. All these changes have been reflected in the calculation of the outstanding severance benefit obligation, and the Board assumes that 75% of the benefits will be paid during the next year. To calculate the obligation of the remaining portion, the Board uses a rate of compensation increase of 3.17%, an estimated discount rate of 2.13% and a horizon of retirement estimated at 15 years.

In 2012, the Board assumed that the severance benefits would be mostly paid in fiscal 2013.
Compensated absences (sick leave)

The Board provides its employees with sick leave benefits based on their salary and the entitlements accumulated over their years of service. These entitlements are accumulated but do not vest.

To calculate the obligation of sick leave, the Board uses an average daily wage of $273 (2012 – $266), a rate of salary increase of 3.17% (2012 – 1.75%), an average annual utilization rate of 2.13% (2012 – 2.37%), a discount rate of 2.13% (2012 – 2.12%), a 5.20% (2012 – 5.01%) probability of employee departure and a retirement age assumption of 60 (2012 – age of 55).

Information about the severance and sick leave benefits, measured as at March 31, 2013, is as follows:

12| RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

The Board is related as a result of common ownership to all government departments, agencies and Crown corporations. The Board enters into transactions with these entities in the normal course of business and on normal trade terms. During the year ending March 31, 2013, the Board leased premises from PWGSC for the amount of $6,759,685 (2012 – $6,822,647).

The Government has centralized some of its administrative activities for efficiency, cost-effectiveness purposes and economic delivery of programs to the public. As a result, the Government uses central agencies and common service organizations so that one department performs services for all other departments and agencies without charge. The costs of these services, such as the payroll and cheque issuance services provided by PWGSC and audit services provided by the Office of the Auditor General, are not included in the Board’s Statement of Operations and Departmental Net Financial Position.

13| ACCOUNTING CHANGES

In March 2011, the Public Sector Accounting Board (PSAB) approved new Section PS 3450, Financial Instruments, and Section PS 1201 to replace the current Section PS 1200, Financial Statement Presentation.

Section PS 3450 states, among others, that all financial instruments must be measured either at fair value, historical cost or amortized cost. Variations in fair value, if any, must be reported in the new statement of remeasurement gains and losses.

The two sections are effective on April 1, 2012, for government organizations and are required to be adopted in the same year. The Board has adopted these sections for the year ended March 31, 2013, which had no significant impact on its financial statements.
